INSTRUCTIONS:

GROSS INCOME. Gross income includes income from any source, except as excluded below, and includes but is not limited to income from salaries, wages, overtime, commissions, royalties, tips, bonuses, rents, dividends, severance pay, pensions, interest, trust income, annuities, reoccurring capital gains, social security benefits, workers' compensation benefits, unemployment insurance benefits, disability insurance benefits, and spousal support actually received from a person not a party to the order. (For further instructions, see R.C. 3119.01)

POTENTIAL INCOME. If a parent is voluntarily unemployed or underemployed, child support may be calculated based on a determination of potential income. It is within the trial court's discretion whether to impute income on a case by case basis. If the trial court should decide to impute income, then it should determine employment potential and probable earnings level based on the obligor's recent work history, occupational qualifications, and prevailing job opportunities and earning levels in the community. (For further instructions, see R.C. 3119.01)
